go2HR's Industry Health & Safety Specialists Designated to Tourism Regions in BC

Vancouver, BC – Each BC tourism region will have a designated Industry Health and Safety Specialist available to assist tourism and hospitality employers with their occupational health and safety needs, announced today by go2HR, BC's tourism industry human resource association.

Mark Gilbert will be responsible for businesses and employers in the Northern BC, Vancouver Coast and Mountains – West, and Vancouver Island regions. Stephanie Mallalieu will be looking after the regions of Cariboo Chilcotin Coast, Kootenay Rockies, Thompson Okanagan, and Vancouver Coast and Mountains – East.

Mark and Stephanie will be available for their specific regions to provide support and act as the go-to contact for help and resources on occupational health and safety and the Certificate of Recognition \(COR\) program. The regions are split in an equitable way to allow the Industry Health and Safety Specialists to best liaise, work, and build relationships with local employers.

Stephanie brings more than 15 years of health and safety experience to the go2HR team, with a particular focus on the food services sector. Her previous roles include health and safety in resort management, and senior positions in food service hygiene and general health and safety.

Mark possesses extensive experience in conducting gap analysis, safety program reviews and COR program audits. Most recently Mark was the Health and Safety Advisor with Best Buy Canada, where he created and implemented Safe Work Procedures as well as updated the company's safety policy.

Stephanie and Mark look forward to promoting and educating employers in their areas on best occupational health and safety practices. Learn more about them at <https://www.go2hr.ca/about-us/meet-team>.
